Polyolefins VS PVC Films, what's the difference?

The primary difference between these two films is their resins recipes. Polyolefin uses a different type of Plastics. If you are using Teflon Sleeves on your L-Sealer bars now you are using PVC. Polyolefins do not need Teflon sleeves on the wires. So that means that your maintenance is cut to a minium on your Sealer. You save the cost of the Teflon Sleeves so you receive a double premium for using this film. That is why so many companies are switching over to Polyolefin's everyday.
